

The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by ayaz mohammad - 01 Jul 2006 19:45

---

i have a problem in english. so i cant talk my friends.it is very difficult for me so please help. and give some advice.

=====

Re:The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by David Rogers - 03 Jul 2006 01:35

---

Hello,

Thank you for visiting Open English World! We welcome you to try the free material we have available on our web site.

If you want personal lessons, please use the Try a Teacher button to request a free interview with one of our excellent teachers.

Best,

David

=====

Re:The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by Reem Al Nuaimi - 20 Nov 2006 12:42

---

Hi, every body

I'm Reemy. I was very happy to join your site. I like to learn more and to improve my speaking beacause I'm Translation student. I feel that I should take more practice.

who can help me, please?

=====

Re:The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by Danielle M. Placek - 01 Dec 2006 21:34

---

I myself am not to great when it comes to English. I am 25 years old and dropped out of scool at 16. I have an eighth grade education, if that. I would love help from where ever it may come.

=====

Re:The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by Danielle M. Placek - 03 Jan 2007 03:10

---

Post edited by: melia518, at: 2007/01/03 11:12

=====

Re:The Weekly Idiom: Ahead of time

Posted by Mercedita H. Sumigcay - 07 Feb 2007 05:51

---

Hi! It's good to join in this kind of forum to learn more about spoken English.

=====